The Mediating Role of Psychological Empowerment in the Relationship Between Transactional Leadership, Transformational Leadership and Strategic Performance of the Egyptian Travel Agents

D. Bassam Samir Elromidy, D. Amal Zahraa Talti

Faculty of Tourism and Hotels – USM Madinat Sadat, Egypt

Abstract:

The study aimed to explore the mediating role of psychological empowerment in the relationship between transactional leadership, transformational leadership and strategic performance in the Egyptian travel agents.

The study found that psychological empowerment plays an fully mediating role in the relationship between the transactional leadership and the strategic performance of the Egyptian travel agents. The study also proved that psychological empowerment plays a partial role in the relationship between transformational leadership and strategic performance of the Egyptian travel agents.

Keywords: transactional leadership, transformational leadership, psychological empowerment, strategic performance, travel agents, Egypt.

Bassam.samir@fth.usc.edu.eg

المؤلف المرسل: د. باسم سمير الرميدي